PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To the Members of the Graduating Class:

I am glad to know that you have selected "Ambition" as your keynote. It is an essential characteristic for success. Without it ability becomes impotent, and other admirable traits can not work themselves through to fruition.

However, you must always bear in mind the fact that ambition alone will not guarantee success. Ambition to become a surgeon must be supported by the will to follow through, the perseverance required for many years of preparation, and the fortitude to make numerous sacrifices. The girl whose ambition points to an executive or an administrative position in a business concern may have to be willing to undertake many minor jobs before she is given the opportunity to show the ability which she thinks she has. Impatience and unwillingness to travel over a hard and long road may offset completely the most desirable degree of ambition.

Then, too, an inordinate ambition may result in only inevitable failure. Know yourself, learn your own aptitudes and abilities, and do not allow ambition to set your goal beyond your reach. Do not try to accomplish the impossible.

With such prescriptions I hope each member of the June 1944 class will attain his and her highest measure of success.

PRELUDE

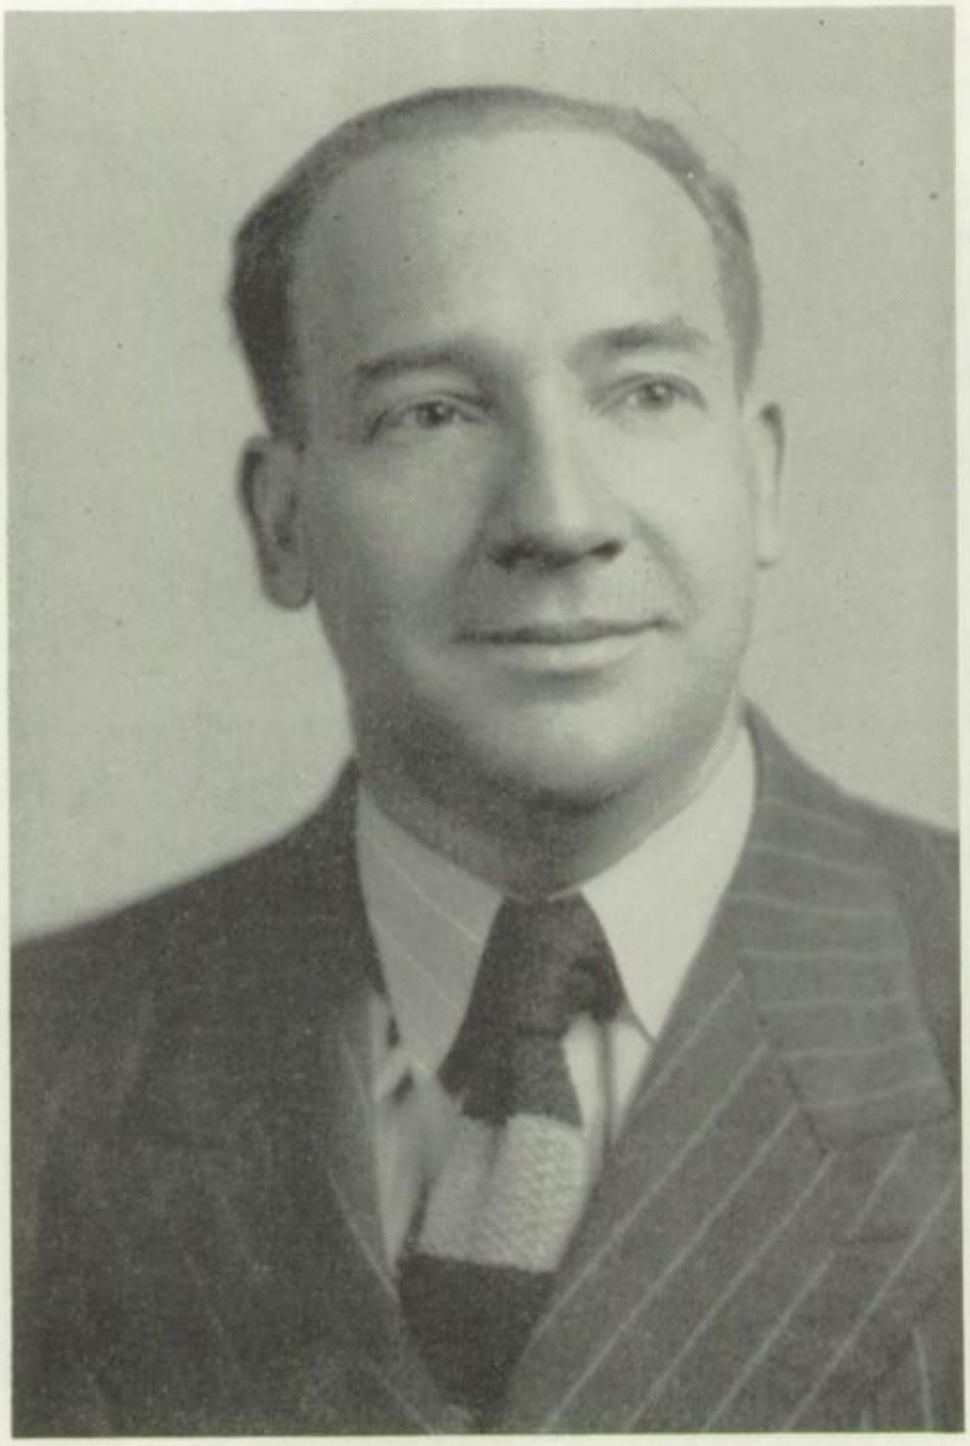
After having worked, studied, and played our way through four years of high school, we are, at long last, graduating. We are leaving the familiar halls and classrooms of Andrew Jackson High School to venture out on our own. In this, our moment of triumph, as we pause to reflect upon our high school career, let us see what we have gained in addition to book-knowledge.

First of all, we have learned to shoulder responsibilities by active participation in student organizations and publications. Their ultimate success or failure depended upon us, and we gradually found that the difficulties weren't so hard to overcome as we had thought. We discovered the value of cooperation as we worked side by side with others in the Chemistry laboratory and the History classroom. The better the collaboration, the more we learned. School spirit and sportsmanship became part of our lives as we proudly watched our athletic teams take championship after championship. Last, but not least, we formed many fast friendships with students and teachers which will be of great joy and comfort to us in later life.

We, the graduates of June, 1944, have completed the first step in our climb toward success. We set our goal for graduation as entering freshmen, and now can look back with a certain amount of pride, upon a career of achievement. At times we felt discouraged and disheartened, for the road to success is an arduous one. A number of our original class fell by the wayside, and we sometimes longed to join them. But our firm desire and determination to win diplomas spurred us on.

We, the graduates of today, shall be the citizens of tomorrow. When this great war is over, we shall be forced to share the cares, troubles, and responsibilities of the reconstruction period. It will not be an easy task, and we shall have to make good. Let our high school experiences then, serve us in our later life. As we enter new fields and professions, let us first set our minds to a purpose, and then strive to accomplish it. In short, let us always remember that "ambition is the keynote to success."

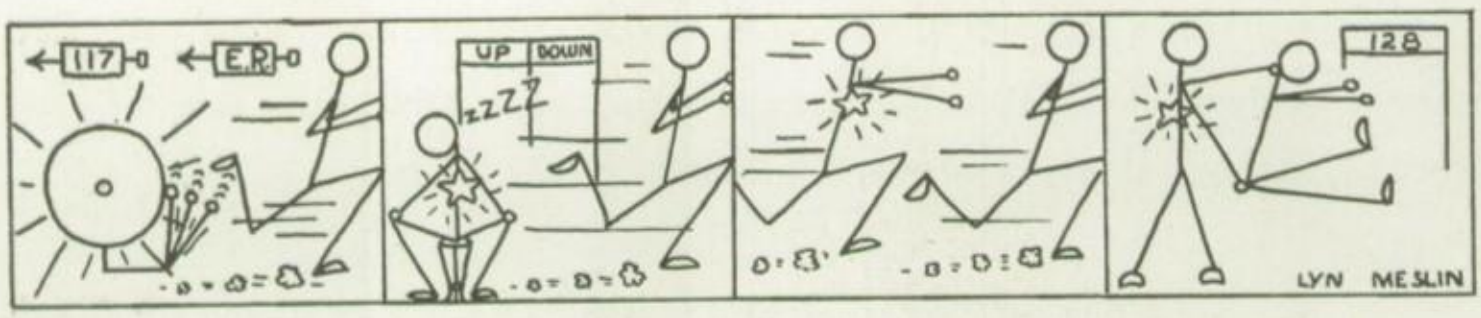
TERRY CHRISTY



DEDICATION

Our four years in high school have been regulated, in part, by "Mr. Fitz." His genial personality and the efficiency with which he supervises our student service organizations have made him famous throughout Jackson. Therefore, the Class of June, 1944, takes pleasure in dedicating this issue of "The Pioneer" to

MR. JOHN FITZPATRICK



Año nuevo
Vida nueva
Sylvia Berkowitz

MRS. SYLVIA BERKOWITZ

"La Lengua es Español" and confidentially, if you'd like a translation, drop around to see our grade advisor, Mrs. Berkowitz. Besides being an authority on most matters foreign to newcomers to the school, she teaches Spanish to those fortunate enough to be in her classes. Attractive and clever, she is one of the most popular members of our faculty.

At times our problems seemed insurmountable, but after a consultation with Mrs. Berkowitz, were made surprisingly simple. Her ready smile and occasional "Caramba!" are familiar to all of us who have spent any length of time in her busy little office.

When we entered Andrew Jackson as Freshmen, our ambitions were vague and undeveloped, but Mrs. Berkowitz helped crystallize them. Now, after having successfully completed the four year course of study which she so carefully mapped out for us, we, the graduating class, extend to her our sincere gratitude.

YESTERTHOUGHTS

FRESHMAN

Remember ? ? ?

. . . when you were a freshman and Mairzydoats was an undiscovered phenomenon? . . . the school buses which made life so easy? . . . how you could play basketball the whole period long, instead of imitating commandos? . . . all the privileges you took advantage of, like buying G.O. stubs, pennants, basketball tickets, because you wanted to be a real Jacksonite? . . . . the way your mother bade you fond farewell at twelve noon with the warning, "You stop in Joe's on the way home, and I'll break every bone in your body," and how you got lost coming home in the dark? . . . how you first made Mr. Bove's acquaintance when you tried to apply for Arista? . . . when girls could powder their noses in Enrolling Rooms with no boys present to criticize? . . . how you were persuaded into voting the "right way" by promises of school hours of twelve to one with an hour out for lunch? . . . or have you forgotten?

SOPHOMORE

Remember? ? ?

. . . how you innocently planned a four year graduation program without considering any such strange animals as war courses? . . . the mysterious "widgets"? . . . the football championship Jackson would have won if we had a team? . . . the very memorable Monday, (Dec. 8, 1941,) when you were forcefully snapped into a state of solemnity by the President's war speech? . . . or the following day when you were sent home, post-haste, during our first air raid alarm? . . . how we Jacksonites, not satisfied with winning the City Basketball Championship, tried to capture Times Square, but were defeated by two riot squads and a longing for supper? . . . how peeved "Doc" Swenson used to get because all of our air raid drills occurred just as Math 22H was getting under way? . . . the way you devoured your nails as you struggled through your first Regents? . . . do you?

JUNIOR

Remember ? ? ?

. . . the battle over girls' slacks during that cold winter? . . . the swimming team which made a definite habit of winning championships? . . . when you saw the same March of Time in the auditorium three times in one day? . . . the service flag the English Department hung out for Mr. Raubicheck and Mr. Ponemon? . . . the letter from the Regents Board commending Howard Stein for a perfect Chem Regents paper? . . . when we lost the championship to Madison's basketball team in the Garden, but won the battle of Duffy Square afterward? . . . the Gold Medal the "Hickory Log" won at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference, and how all the New York papers clamored to sign up our staff . . . or don't you?

SENIOR

Remember ? ? ?

. . . how we started our last year by copping most of the major school positions? . . . when Betty Schroeder, spouting poetry right and left, assumed the Editorship of the "Star"? . . . when Terry Christy and Joe Scheines took over the Lunch and Traffic Squads respectively, and started sending wayward sophs to Doris Allen, Sylvia Libes, and Don Monks, Senior Judges of the Student Court? . . . how Sue Wells and Kathie Driscoll sharpened their pencils anew upon becoming Co-Editors of the "Hickory Log"? . . . the day three hundred odd Seniors and one Soph lined up to order class jewelry? (the Soph thought he was on the pretzel line) . . . how certain teachers went into hiding when you needed their signatures for activity sheets? . . . the day the warning bell rang an extra minute and Mr. Pollin observed an unusually long period of silence? . . . how the boys groaned after the most feminine Senior election in history? . . . how your last spring in Jackson came in with a bang and a bump? (the bump was Bensen dropping a book in the daily dash from Gym to History, and the bang was someone slamming the door on a raging snow storm) . . . how Bill Walker, with his left hand in a cast, led our crack basketball team to our second City Championship in four years, with a smashing victory over Benjamin Franklin at the Garden? . . . that wonderful June 28 when you marched proudly up to receive your diploma? . . . Of course you remember! How could you ever forget? ! ? !

CAN YOU IMAGINE

Kathryn Driscoll not doing well?
A Jacksonite not praying for the bell?
Peggy McLean being conceited?
A Jackson team being defeated?
Jean Gerety not looking neat?
A room without pretzels under your feet?
Frank Alagia without an answer?
Elmer Stang not a good dancer?
Barbara Murcott without red hair?
Jacksonites going down a "down" stair?
Hickory Party without Kay Duffy?
Edris Cook being a "toughy"?
Jack Rooney not getting in trouble?
Running to classes on the double?
Bob Levy not on the prowl?
A Jackson shower with a towel?
Gladys Thompson not kidding around?
Finding your pen in the "Lost and Found"?
Ethel Schulhaus without her "Sisters"?
Mrs. Grossfeld not raising blisters?
Howard Stein lolling in "Joe's"?
Ellen Hundt with a turned-down nose?
Time after gym to get thoroughly dressed?
A week in Jackson without a test?
Estelle Liffner without her dimple?
Mr. Bové making it simple?
Felix Ciampa missing a goal?
Mrs. Joscelyne not calling the roll?

The library actually without noise?
Jackson being a school for boys?
Donald Bensen not reading a book?
Elisabeth Bailey learning to cook?
Audrey Hoffman failing a test?
Jean Sorensen not looking her best?
Joe Scheines keeping quiet?
Jackson halls without a riot?
Joan Drakert not being frank?
Agnes Hermann playing a prank?
Eileen Donlin without a date?
Evelyn Egger not being late?
Edna Langner being rude?
Joan China not thinking of food?
Phil Vander Leith not leading a cheer?
Jackson rooms without us here?
Steve Kocis not being a good sport?
Fred Durland with a girl in every port?
Coach Grummond with a losing team?
Tom McGarty not on the beam?
Bill Walker not being plain swell?
Chem experiments without a smell?
Ann and Al Palmintere looking like twins?
Teachers without those suspecting grins?
Mr. Schiffman teaching History?
Graduation not a mystery?
Jackson not being best in the city?
This is the end of our little ditty.

WE DOOD IT

When we came in-to this school 4 years a- go, nu-mer-ous things we did-n't know.
Gra-du-ly we reached our soph'more hood and then some things we slight-ly un-der stood.
The next year Jun-iors so am-bit-ious were we, tak-ing Math 3 and Chem-is-try. Soon our minds were

We are now Sen-iors
fame we'll meet,
we have 3 girls to each boy but still we can't be beat. At last we wel-come our great and ga-la day.
June will see us up-on our way.
To our Al-ma Ma-ter we'll be true for
An-drew Jack-son saw us safe-ly through.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

SHORT FORM 1040A

We,* the graduating class of June, 1944, being sound in mind and body, despite our faculty, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament, superseding all other contracts and commitments entered into during our confinement in Andrew Jackson High School.

We brought nothing into this school, but ourselves. We can take nothing out, but ourselves, and even that took many, many years. Therefore, inasmuch as we have acquired divers and sundry articles of little or less value, these having accumulated in our pockets and pocketbooks (especially pocketbooks), we are obliged to bequeath them to various undeserving characters.

We hereby appoint Mr. Haller our sole executor (accent on the second syllable) and charge him with delivering the following items to their designated recipients.

A book on shorthand to Mr. McGarrett

A joke and a box of boomerang chalk to Dr. Greenstone (better known as Angus Grindstone)

A thousand original squibs to the next Yearbook staff

A whistle to Miss Duhy

A waterproof cigar and a floating ash tray to Mr. Cashin

A pair of semaphore flags to Dr. Anderson

A foreign language class that knows its English to Mr. Huncke

A boy to be shared among the Sten classes

To Mr. Schiffman, another experiment which requires "dust"

To Miss Morley, a gun to shoot people who interrupt her lessons

To the English Department, one perfect sentence, having unity, emphasis, coherence, parallel structure (on paper with parallel lines), seven commas, two semi-colons, and only one period.

In witness whereof, we affix our signatures this twenty-seventh day of June, 1944.

President of the Senior Class, PHIL VANDER LEITH
Vice-President of the Senior Class, PEGGY McLEAN
Editor-in-Chief of the Yearbook, TERRY CHRISTY

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

"The immediate goal of every good citizen is the winning of the war. To attain this end the normal course of life of each one has been temporarily halted or changed. Individual welfare and ambitions must be subordinated to the all-out effort for victory."
